

CONGRESS SCATTERS FOR WEEK'S REST

FRENCH TIGER NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE DAY

Fighting Spirit Lost As M.
Clemenceau Arranges
Funeral.

By FREDERIC K. ABBOTT
PARIS, Nov. 23.—The science of medicine has done its utmost.
The fate of M. Georges Clemenceau rested in unearthly hands today.

Bereft of the fighting spirit which had enabled him to bid death depart from his bed-chamber on more than one occasion before, the 88-year-old statesman lay waiting quietly for his end.

Gone was the sarcasm with which he ridiculed the attempts of doctors to impress upon him the gravity of his condition; gone the indomitable will which heretofore conquered illnesses which would have laid many a younger man low.

M. Clemenceau may live a few hours, but that his now frail body will survive throughout the day is regarded by his physicians as an impossibility. Colitis and weakness of heart have been aggravated by severe uremia. Poison is slowly filtering through the body of the man who for almost three-quarters of a century has been one of the most outstanding figures in France.

ARRANGE FUNERAL
In his last hours, M. Clemenceau's battle with death was eased by cessation of the wracking abdominal pains which beset him throughout yesterday. He slept last night a peaceful sleep, awakening but rarely, and then only to mumble words of love for those about him, sorrow for the trouble he was causing, and brief instructions about his funeral.

Even better than his doctors, Clemenceau knows he is dying.
"Bury me in La Vendée," he said in one of his waking spells.
"Bury me in the south; national funerals I abhor."

And while the war-time premier of France was still breathing his last breaths in this world, his family nodded their willingness to comply with this wish. Deserving of a tomb in the heart of Paris next to those of heroes and statesmen of other days, Clemenceau still will be laid to rest in the country town beneath southern skies he loved so well.

The casual stroller on the Rue Franklin, in a house on which Clemenceau lays dying, would hardly have realized throughout the night that tragedy destined to affect all of France as few things have affected her before was being enacted.

Before the portals of the house where Clemenceau's apartment is located stood two gendarmes, silent except for the beating of their arms against their chest to ward off the winter cold. On the street corner, beneath a flickering light, stood a little group of newspapermen — representatives of the press of the world — standing the "death watch" over France's "Pere De Victoire."

EVERYTHING QUIET
Little traffic rumbled through the streets. Motorists avoided the thoroughfare out of consideration for the sick statesman. Few voices broke the stillness. There was nothing to do but wait.
Shortly before 8 o'clock this morning, Michel Clemenceau, son of the former premier, came out of the house and advanced to the waiting journalists. He bore eloquent traces of his night-long vigil at his father's bedside.
"There is no change," he said simply. "My father slept well, but the uremia is gaining ground."

And while it is undoubtedly making his last hours easier, this "sleeping well" is one of the things that has convinced Clemenceau's physicians that all hope is gone. It means that the uremic poisoning, seeping through his system, has deadened the pain of colitis, and it means also that when it has spread sufficiently,
M. Clemenceau will breathe no more.

Any frail hopes that Clemenceau might somehow battle safely through this latest crisis in his long illness, were dashed at midnight, when Dr. Gennes, his principal physician, explained the nature of his ailment.

"No hope remains for Monsieur Le President's recovery," the doctor said. "He is being slowly poisoned by the effects of uremia. He can no longer feel the pain and is somnolent most of the time."

Tragic End of an Air Tour over New York Brings Death to Pilot

Before the eyes of horror-stricken thousands, an airplane tumbled helplessly from an elevation of 2,000 feet and smashed itself on a roof at Central Park West, New York. The pilot, Charles I. Reid, one-time army officer, rode with his craft to the end and was killed. His passenger, Robert J. Baille, saved his life by a daring parachute leap. Police Commissioner Whalen took charge of the investigation, and is shown examining the wrecked plane on one of New York City's skyscrapers.

Fred Markgraff, Deplores Passing Of Horses, Relates Experiences

Probably no man in this city deplores the passing of the horse as much as Fred Markgraff who is now four score and four years of age. Few men have had the experience as a trainer of horses that he has had. Speaking of his old time experience at the Hotel American, which place is now his home, he became reminiscent and spoke of the glories of bygone days.

"It's like a dream to think that I should live to see the equine God's noblest animal fade out of the picture of this everyday world.
"Fifty years ago at Bloomington, Ill., I won a pacing race with Mary Burt in 2:33. This mare was owned by Dillon Brothers. At Bowling Green, O., just 12 years ago, I drove Sweet Jessimine to victory, making the time in 2:20 1-4. I also trained and drove Ben Coffland owned by Turney Ruggles.

In California I trained and drove horses for Governor Leland Stanford. This was only 25 years ago. Some wealthy men tried to get me to go to Australia but I declined.
"I don't know what made me so lucky winning races. I don't exactly believe in luck. I attribute my success as a trainer and driver of horses to the fact that I made a study of the animal. I knew their weak and strong points. I very seldom laid a lash on them. They responded to words of kindness and they never failed me. It may be that highly strung horses have hotter blood than just common nags without a pedigree. I know one thing, they are more sensitive and intelligent. Often another driver was given a chance to drive if I was undisposed, but he never could get the speed out of them as well as I could, a horse is quick to show devotion. In this regard he is nearest to the dog, man's greatest friend, among animals.

My work in Kentucky was recognized and I was selected by the emissary of the Czar Nicholas of Russia to accompany the horses they purchased in Kentucky to St. Petersburg, Russia.
I saw all the glitter and pomp of the royal families of the Tarter state, Germany, Denmark.

KIWANIS TO HOLD ELECTION

The annual election of the Kiwanis club will be held at the Boggs hotel Monday evening at which all members are expected to be present.
Plans for the football banquet to be held early in December will also be formulated at this time.

FARM BUREAU WORKERS HOLD CONFERENCE

Membership Solicitation To Be Started In Next Few Weeks.

The organization on committee of the Pickaway-co Farm Bureau comprised of R. E. May, H. O.
Peters, William Cromley, C. D.
Rector and J. B. Stevenson invited a group of representative farm bureau workers to a membership conference which was held at the Farm Bureau office Friday evening.

The township leaders were guests of the Farm Bureau at a dinner served at the Hanley Tea Room.

Following the dinner the group retired to the Farm Bureau office where the conference was opened.
R. E. May, chairman of the organization committee, discussed the purpose of the conference, stating that dues collection and membership renewals were problems which must be met to expand and develop farm bureau programs.

William Windmiller and J. R.
Allyre, of the organization department Ohio Farm Bureau, Columbus, were on the program.
These men both contributed some valuable help through presenting methods which other county organizations were using in maintaining their membership.

The following local leaders were present: J. D. Carter and C. D.
Rector, Deer Creek-twp.; Paul Cromley, Harrison-twp.; C. B.
Tegardin and H. O. Peters, Madison-twp.; George C. Gerhardt, Jackson-twp.; J. E. Pitt, Muhlen-berg-twp.; R. W. May, Ralph Head and Ed. Kreisel, Pickaway-twp.; W. E. Brinker, Walnut-twp.; A. C. Leist, Washington-twp.; J. B. Stevenson, Wayne-twp.; H. J. Briggs, Perry-twp., and H. S. Lewis county agent.

Dues collections and membership solicitation will be conducted throughout the county during the next three weeks.

2 MEN KILLED IN GRIM DUEL

Death Comes To Combatants
In Mysterious Hotel
Encounter.

DECATUR, ALA., Nov. 23.—(I NS.)—Two grim-visaged men stood face to face in a Decatur hotel early today and fought a duel to the death in the quiet of early dawn.

One of the combatants was Henry Davidson, 35, a local business man. The other was unidentified, but letters found in his pocket led police to believe that he was J. B.
Cox, of Huntsville.

When found the two men were sprawled upon the floor, their smoking revolvers lying at arm's reach.

The death duel was shrouded in mystery.

DANNER RELEASED ON $1000 BOND

Francis Danner, Salt Creek-twp.
whom it is alleged assaulted and badly beat Mr. and Mrs. E. F.
Anderson which resulted in Mrs.
Anderson's going to a hospital for treatment of a broken leg, was released from the county jail Friday under $1000 bond.

A charge of assault with intent to kill was filed by Anderson in Squire E. C. Fries's court late Monday and the defendant was placed in jail. Attorney Paul Adkins represents Danner.

BAN AIRPLANES AT MICHIGAN U.

ANN ARBOR, MICH., Nov. 23.— (INS.)—"Keep out of the clouds" the University of Michigan warned its students today as the first airplane ban ever to be enacted by a college or university went into effect here.

Hard on the heels of its rigid an-tomobile ban, the university has issued the ultimatum to all air-minded students to secure college permits before piloting an airplane. Expulsion or severe discipline is the penalty for any infractions.

Government and Industry Unite In Common Cause for Nation

Here is the group of railroad and Government officials who conferred with Hoover on plans to bolster business. They are, seated, left to right: A. T.
Dite, P. & R. Railroad; Richard Alston, president of the American Railroad Association; Secretary of Commerce Lamont, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon, Hale Holden, Southern Pacific Railroad; L. F. Loree, Delaware & Hudson Railroad. Left to right in the back row are: J. J. Bernet, Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad; P. E. Crowley, New York Central;
J. J. Pelley, N. Y., N. H. & Hartford Railroad; J.
Milbank, of the Southern Railways; F. W. Sargent, Chicago & Northwestern; A. H. Shaw, publisher; Julius Barnes, chairman of the Boards of Commerce of the United States; William Butterworth, president, United States Chamber of Commerce.

Ohio Prisoners Will Enjoy Big Thanksgiving

Prisoners in the Ohio penitentiary will enjoy a sumptuous and appetizing Thanksgiving dinner.
Warden Preston E. Thomas has issued orders that the men be given good portions of the following menu: Roast pork and gravy with oyster dressing, celebrity, apple sauce and candied sweets, bread, butter and coffee followed with pumpkin pie and stogies. In the morning preceding the dinner services for the men will be held in the new chapel with a splendid special musical program. Hundreds of the men will also be recipients of holiday boxes sent them by relatives and friends.

TURNER HURT IN ACCIDENT

Local Colored Man Cut About
Head When Automobile Turns Over.

George Turner, colored, of Clinton-st., an employee of the Circleville Motors Inc., was badly cut about the head and face at about 7 a. m. Saturday when the Essex coupe owned and driven by Jess Acord, Logan-st., turned over on the Chillicothe-pk just south of Kingston.

Acord escaped without injury.

The Essex was traveling at fair rate of speed when it approached a curve at the Scioto Valley Traction tracks. Failure to negotiate the curve caused the wreck.

The Essex was badly damaged, the top being knocked off and fenders broken.

MAN'S DEATH NOT TOLD SICK WOMAN

Mrs. Katharine Head of near Circleville, who has been seriously ill, was not informed Saturday of the death of her brother, Daniel J. Dalley, a life long resident of Piketon, who died Friday, at his home. He had been in poor health for a number of years.
Death was sudden. The body was found by a daughter with whom he lived, when she stepped into the living room to call him for dinner. No funeral arrangements have been made.

HILL SERVICES TO BE SUNDAY

Funeral services for Harvey T.
Hill, 50, prominent Darbyville farmer, who was almost instantly killed late Thursday when his automobile collided head-on with a street car in Columbus, will be held at the late home at 2 30 p. m. Sunday.
Burial will be in the Darby-ville cemetery with Rev. Rose officiating.

SNOOK IS GRANTED INDEFINITE POSTPONEMENT OF EXECUTION

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22.— (INS.)—An indefinite stay of execution will be granted to Dr.
James Howard Snook, confessed and convicted slayer of Miss Theora Hix, his attractive co-ed paramour.
That was the promise which Chief Justice C. T. Marshall, of the Ohio Supreme court, made to the doomed man's attorneys in the presence of County Prosecutor John J. Chester.

The jurist's statement followed the action of the Franklin-co appellate court in overruling a motion for a new trial for the ex-college professor who slew the co-ed to whom he had made illicit love.

Marshall's promise was made on condition that the defense attorneys speed up their case with all possible celerity.

Meanwhile, Dr. Snook is in "death row" at the Ohio State Penitentiary. He had originally been sentenced to die on the night after Thanksgiving Day, but the promised stay of execution will foil the state's efforts to make the man pay the supreme penalty at that time.

When reporters went to his cell,
Snook told them to "get out."

MAN, ILL ONE MONTH, DIES

Frank Jones, 58, Wayne-twp.
Farmer, Taken By Heart Disease.

Frank Jones, 48, well known Wayne-twp. farmer, died at his home Friday at 11:30 p. m. of heart trouble after a month's illness.

Mr. Jones was never married and was living with a sister, Bertha, and two brothers, Sam and Garner, at the time of his death.

He was born in Jackson-twp.
June 27, 1881, the son of John and Mary Montgomery Jones, and had been a resident of Pickaway-co his entire life.

Besides the sister and brothers with whom he lived, he is survived by four other sisters, Nellie Kuhn, and Susan Balleto. Columbus, Martha Wilson, Lancaster, and Mary Arledge, Darbyville.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the Union Chapel M. E. church with Rev. C.
Swearingen officiating. Burial will be in the Forest cemetery by C. E.
Hill, Williamsport.

LONDON LADY DIES IN WRECK

Settlement House Worker Drives Automobile Into Big Bus.

LONDON, O., Nov. 23.—When she drove her automobile head-on into a Columbus-Dayton bus, Mrs.
Martha Ruth Mellett, about 60 years of age, president of the Union Settlement House in Sprung-field, suffered fatal injuries last night.

Mrs. Mellett apparently failed to see the bus as she drove her automobile around a parked machine.
The driver of the bus swerved into ditch but the woman's auto struck the bus. She died in an ambulance enroute to an emergency hospital at West Jefferson.

JIMMY BROWN HAS OPERATION

Jimmy Brown, son of Judge and Mrs. E. A. Brown of E.
Main-st. had a cyst-tumor removed from his left leg Friday by Dr. Howard Jones. The wound is rapidly healing and Jim expects to be back to school Monday.

ATTEMPT TO UNITE G. O. P. VOTE AGAIN

Election Case of William Vare
To Be Put Up At Next Meeting.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Its honeymoon over, the 71st congress scattered far and wide today for a week's vacation before resuming its political wars at the regular session, starting Monday, Dec. 2.

The senate, exhausted by months of partisan strife over the farm bill and tariff, began organizing hunting and golfing parties as a relaxation. The house, having enjoyed a vacation during most of the summer and all of the fall, merely continued to do nothing.

There was considerable political activity in the wake of the special sessions, however, with Republican leaders seeking to solidify Republican ranks and the coalition leaders arranging for a continuation of the Democratic insurgent alliance in the next session. There were indications the coalition would continue to dominate the senate while a like alliance may be organized to give regular Republican leaders some trouble in the house.

The administration's efforts were directed toward uniting the "old guard" and "Young Turk" Republicans in the senate and holding the hundred-vote Republican majority intact in the house. "Claudius H. Hunton," Republican national committee man, appeared to be in charge of this strategic maneuver, he was reported to have a big job on his hands, since the "Young Turks" having been tasting the weakness in the senate seemed likely to continue on their independent way.

ELECTION CASE UP

The coalition leaders meanwhile looked forward to the election case of Senator-elect William S.
Vare (R) of Penna. Under an agreement, the case will come up for senate action on Dec. 3 but administration leaders may seek its postponement into the new year. There were signs the Democratic insurgent coalition would oppose this delay and unite in forcing an immediate decision in the Vare case—a decision that can only result in his exclusion.
It was a certainty too that the coalition would present the same united and dominating front in the tariff wars at the regular session. The alliance started out to strip President Hoover in its protective rates and to prevent wholesale increases in industrial rates. Both insurgent and Democratic leaders declared they would continue the alliance until this purpose was accomplished and the tariff bill finally enacted.
Rumors of the formation of a similar coalition in the house were heard in connection with the tariff. It was said Rep. John S.
Garner, of Tex., Democratic floor leader, had won the assent of 543 Republican representatives to unite in defending the senate bill again the house measure. This would give Mr. Garner control of a majority of the house—if true.
It appeared certain though that he would get a score of more votes from the insurgent group and farm bloc states but whether he can get enough to wield a majority of a hundred votes.

RUMOR DIES

Talk of removing present Republican leaders in the senate has died. One "old guardman" pointed out that critics of the Republican leadership should quarrel with the electorate, starting at no time has the regular Republican organization had control of the senate. This spokesman pointed out the difference in senate personnel between that of the Harding "honeymoon" and the Hoover "honeymoon" sessions.

"Back in the Harding honeymoon, we had Lenroot, Sterling Bursum, Kellogg and Nelson, Cammens and Hawson, Waidsworth and Calder, McCumber, Poinsett and Harrell to help us with our tariff bills," he explained. "Now in those same seats we have Blaine, McCumber, Bratton (D), Shipstead (F-L) and Schall, Brookhart and Steck (D), Wagner (D) and Copeland (D), Frazier, Dill (D) and Thomas (D)."
Instead of 12 faithful Republicans, we have five insurgents, six Democrats and one Farmer-Laborite. That's why we can't control the senate."

Thanksgiving is possibly only to those who have time to remember.

One mission of the church is to remind you of the many blessings that God has bestowed upon you. Attend church somewhere and see if you are not put in remembrance of these blessings.

Our services opens with Bible school at 9:15 a. m. with a class for every age. We have a fine corps of teachers. We must think the thought of God and work at His will or we will wreck the world.

PRaise VERSUS PRAYER

Präise is more difficult than prayer. Possibly all ten of the lepers healed by Christ prayed, but only one returned to praise the Lord. We hold a kind of contempt for the nine who were healed, and would not do so much as thank their healer.

We forget that there are corresponding kindnesses of God extended to us daily, the many ministrations of health and healing, the and religious liberty and life with its accompanying blessings of peace, prosperity and happiness.

As every good and perfect gift comes from God, praise belongs to him and where can our thanks giving be better expressed than in which has in it much of praise. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

without so much as a word of gratitude. Later the serpent brought to the woodcutter's hut a precious jewel and the lion brought a dead goat as a token of gratitude. And when the townspeople heard of the gratitude of the beasts and the thoughtlessness of the Venetian, they compelled him to fulfill his promise to the poor woodcutter even to the half of his kingdom.

The Higher Patriotism Jonah 1:1-3; 8:1-5, 4:5-11 for Sunday, November 24.

The book of Jonah reveals God's interest in the heathen nations; it also presents an ideal for his believers in that true patriotism which not only loves and serves its own country but shows brotherly regard for other countries and practical programs for their welfare.

Vs. 1, 2. "Now the word of Jehovah came unto Jonah saying, arise, go to Ninevah, that great city, and cry against it; for their wickedness is come up before me." Jonah, a representative of God, had a work that he and he only was to do. God is represented as on high knowing all evil done by the children of men, which moves him to direct a program of mercy rather than stern judgment.

V. 3. "But Jonah rose up to flee unto Tarshish from the presence of Jehovah; and he went down to Joppa, and found a ship going to Tarshish; so he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it, to go with them to Tarshish from the presence of Jehovah." Jonah determined to get away from duty and from God little realizing how impossible it was to shake off duty so easily and to escape the presence of God. Jonah had an experience of repentance brought about by a very rough sea voyage and an imprisonment in a great fish for three days; good men when they fail to obey God must repent just the same as men not believing in Him.

V. 1. "And the word of Jehovah came unto Jonah the second time saying, arise, go unto Ninevah, that great city and preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee." It is always God's way to give men a second chance and even more if there is hope Ninevah was a great city but the power of God was greater and the test of Jonah was to trust God for results; God did not give any other message than what was plain to him, namely repentance because of sin.

V. 3. "So Jonah arose, and went unto Ninevah, according to the word of Jehovah." It was a long and hard journey of 800 miles and Jonah's faith and zeal were sorely tried by it, but he persevered and was undergoing a preparation that would enable him to speak with power.

4. "And Jonah began to enter the city a day's journey, and he cried and said, yet forty days and Ninevah shall be overthrown." His message was short but to the point; sin has its penalty which can be averted only by the mercies of God.

V. 5. "And the people of Ninevah believed God; and they proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them."

Eventually a poor woodcutter heard their cries and discovered them in the pit. The rich Venetian offered rich rewards to the woodcutter if he would assist him in getting out of the pit. After much labor the woodcutter dragged a ladder to the pit. The lion and the serpent crawled up the ladder first and crouched humbly at the feet of the woodcutter, but the rich Venetian went on his way

A THANKSGIVING LEGION
King Richard Coeur de Lion frequently repeated this legend to his comrades to instill in them the spirit of gratitude.

There was once a pit dug to entrap wild beasts and while a rich Venetian was walking through the forest, he fell into it. He found at the bottom a lion and a serpent. Seeing a companion in misery, the beasts did no harm to the Venetian.

Eventually a poor woodcutter heard their cries and discovered them in the pit. The rich Venetian offered rich rewards to the woodcutter if he would assist him in getting out of the pit. After much labor the woodcutter dragged a ladder to the pit. The lion and the serpent crawled up the ladder first and crouched humbly at the feet of the woodcutter, but the rich Venetian went on his way

High School Court Practice Begins In Earnest Monday

For the past week, the veterans of Circleville high schools 1928-29 court squads have been working out in the gymnasium in preparation for hard practice which starts Monday.

Many green members of the squad who have not had a chance to get into the thick of the practice will be given this opportunity Monday when Coach Guthrie begins to put the entire squad through lengthy workouts in preparation for the Red and Black's opening contest with St. Mary's at Lancaster on Dec. 6.

Guthrie is blessed with the return of several of last year's letter men.

The following members complete this season's squad: Seniors—Nickerson, Heiskell, Davis, Russell, Clark, Wilson, Adkins, Rector, Greco, Greene, Gordon, S. Green and MacAllister, former Williamsport letter man; Juniors: Barnhart, Brown, Lape, Henn, Blackson, Hegele, J. Russell, Radcliff and D. Rader; Sophomores: Iles, Hundley, Mills, Griffith, Good, Dresbach, Stout; Freshmen—McCreary, Dean White, Davis, Eldridge, Hitchcock, Wilkerson, Lewis, Drum, Glitt and Laughlin.

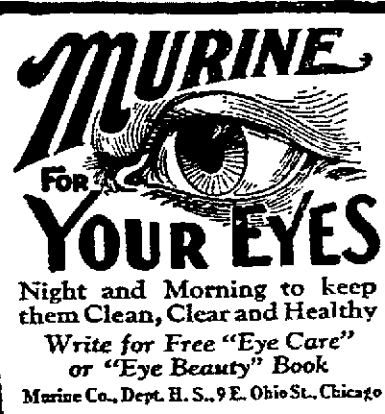

Here is the schedule: Dec. 6—St. Mary's at Lancaster. Dec. 13—Marysville at Marysville.

Dec. 20—Washington C. H. at Washington C. H. Dec. 27—Chillicothe at Chillicothe.

Jan. 3—Open. Jan. 10—Westerville at Westerville.

Jan. 17—Y. Day School at Circleville. Jan. 21—Granville at Granville.

Jan. 24—Grandview at Circleville. Jan. 31—Bexley at Circleville.

Notice to the public

SUPPOSE you are today paying 50c a tube for your tooth paste (and there are many very good dentifrices selling today at that price).

Suppose, like most people, you buy about twelve tubes during a year. Now if you knew that you could buy as good a dentifrice as can be made and still save each year the price of 25 loaves of bread or 60 bars of soap or 40 pounds of sugar or a box of fine cigars—could you conscientiously fail to take advantage of such an opportunity?

That is exactly what you do when you buy Listerine Tooth Paste at 25c for a large tube. Figure it out for yourself.

ALLEY CAT SEES CRAZY CAT COMIC
During the showing of the Crazy Cat animated cartoon at the Cliftona theater Friday night who should walk in the front door but crazy cat himself. It evolved that it was just an ordinary black alley cat, but the minds of the audience were so engrossed on the highly entertaining sound cartoons before them, that the cat took on the features of the feline on the screen.

The real cat was hastily removed but the reel cat continued his antics, playing classical stuff on the grand piano in the Opry House. His technique was superb, and if the comedy does not provoke mirth from everyone in the audience, there is something wrong with their sense of humor, or appreciation of real comic art.

OHIO U DRUBS WITTENBERG; MUSKIES WIN FROM KENYON

COLUMBUS, Nov. 23—Muchly like a comet and blazing a most brilliant football record across the gridiron's terrestrial skies, Ohio University today had ended its greatest season in the history of the small Athens-co school by a victory over Wittenberg, 33 to 6.

The Lutherans, who went to Athens from Springfield, were hopelessly outclassed in every department of the game. Their line was outcharged by the fleet Bobcats' forward wall, their backfield was out-ran and out-passed, in fact they were like putty in the muscular moleskin hands of Don Peden's craftsmen.

Some 8,000 shivering fans braved the snow and cold to watch the biggest little team in the Buckeye State, bar none, perform and bring to a grand final a perfect gridiron season.

In turn, the Bobcats have marched through Ohio Wesleyan, Miami, Cincinnati and Denison and it remained for Wittenberg to stop them yesterday. But the Ohio offensive, which was led by Chic Young, a rampaging fullback who couldn't be stopped, pounded through the Wittenberg line again and again until all was lost.

Not only are the Bobcats the champions of the Buckeye Athletic Association but they hold an enviable record of not being tied much less defeated this season.

A comparison of the points scored places the Athens school several points better than Ohio State University and this scribe is not alone in his wish that the two Ohio's would meet in a post-season game.

Meanwhile, history was being made at Gambier, where Muskingum's steam roller in the person of Curly McEwen, fullback, broke through a stubborn Kenyon college defense in the second half to bring home the Ohio Conference championship. The score was 34-to-14.

At the end of the half Kenyon was leading 14 to 7, but during the brief between-half interval, the Muskingum team must have been given a nice "dressing down," for it went back onto the chalk-marked gridiron to come from behind and win.

So hail to the two champions, Ohio University and Muskingum, Toledo, playing for a tie for honors in the Northwest Ohio conference, defeated Defiance, 26 to 13, as was predicted by the writer. The Toledo gridders and the Bowling Green Falcons are tied for honors in that conference.

Neither team belongs in the same class as Ohio University or Muskingum, and though they are to be congratulated, nobody except their own student bodies should break out into cheering.

MR. KEELER ADDRESSES HI-Y CLUB

Assistant Advisor V. D. Keeler spoke to the Hi-Y on "Clean Speech" at the meeting Nov. 12, at which time he asked the members to stand by the first plank of the platform and not to abuse their tongue.

President Cartright appointed the following committees for the Girl Reserve Hi-Y party to be held Dec. 3: Decorating, Charles Kirkpatrick and Hugh Cartright; entertainment, John Heiskell and Robert Rooney; refreshments, Edgar Clark and Richard Stump.

At the meeting Nov. 19, Malcolm Russell read "The Parable of the Sower," for the scripture lesson, after which the remaining time was spent in group discussion of activities.

MRS. ULM ADDRESSES GIRL RESERVES

"Emotional control is more important to success in life than brain capacity," says Mrs. W. T. Ulm, an advisor of the Girl Reserves who addressed this club at their meeting Thursday noon.

She stressed the appeal to the emotions in business, school and homes. "A salesman who can create in a prospective buyer a feeling of good will, and can cause this person to like him, will be successful in professions such as ministry, acting, and teaching, a person reuses a fine control as well as expression of emotion," stated Mrs. Ulm.

Advertising is only an appeal to the emotions. Business concerns through advertising try to appeal to the emotions of readers by creating a desire for their article. A person may have brain capacity and fail in life because he does not have the personality and emotional control that is essential to business and social success.

MUSIC SCHEDULE

Due to the short week, the music schedule for Nov. 25th will not be as large as heretofore. The following schedule has been announced by Miss Wittich: Monday, Eighth Grade, first period; Junior and Senior group, second period; all state chorus, fourth period; Wednesday, all state chorus, seventh period.

MAGICIAN MOORE VISITS

"The art of magic is an art that pleases everybody," stated E. J. Moore, the magician, in an interesting talk to the student body at physical education period Wednesday.

"I have been in every country in the world with my show, but never before," stated Mr. Moore. "I have put on the show for less than 50 cents. I came here and talked with your principal and superintendent about putting on a performance and they told me of the financial condition of your athletic association. I therefore agreed to put on the show for the reduced prices of 25 and 35 cents he continued.

He told a number of incidents about the world's greatest magician, Harry Houdini. "He was a great pal of mine," quoted Mr. Moore. "He was a man that never said 'quit'. I saw him perform in New York with a broken ankle when his wife wanted and begged him to postpone the show, but he said, 'No! The show must go on.' And again in Pittsburgh a similar incident happened. He was cautioned by the doctors not to enter upon the stage again because he was likely to die any time, but again he said, 'No! The show must go on!'"

"Boys and girls," continued Mr. Moore, "never say 'quit'. Say as Houdini said, 'No! My work must go on!'"

To prove his statement about being in every country in the world, he asked anyone in the audience to ask him something concerning any country. He was asked, by an Irishman of course, to say something about Dublin. Ireland he replied with the description of an old bridge he crossed just after the World War had ceased. As he continued his talk he told of a true incident related to him by a friend in Ireland about two armies, fully equipped for battle, who met on that old bridge. If one man of either army had winked an eye or had made a "crooked move" there would have occurred a battle that would have gone down in history.

Moore's Magic Mystifiers. Although not a great number were present to see the performance of E. J. Moore, entertainer, Wednesday evening, it was undoubtedly a great success. From the very beginning Mr. Moore held the audience in wonderment.

His tricks consisted of fishing without water cooking without fire, transmitting fire by wireless telegraphy, and many other unaccountable things. His daughter Phoebe Jane also added much to the attraction.

Undoubtedly his greatest attraction was "The Tears of Buddha," which he performed with great skill to the astonishment of the audience.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS' NEWS

Franklin S reet

"Looking through the Microscope" is the motion picture film being shown in the sixth grade. The film deals with the study of germs and bacteria as seen through the microscope.

A. A. White, principal says, "The students are very interested in these moving pictures which are shown in the classroom, and I know that they really derive something from these shows."

Special Education

The boys and girls in the higher special education of Marie L. Hamilton are making paper cutters or letter openers. These are made of thin wood and are hand painted.

Plans for narcissus bulbs are also being decorated by these pupils. The boys are constructing octagonal table flower pot stands in manual training.

Earl Gulick and Junior Fowler were elected mayor and policeman respectively in the lower special education class. Miss Iris Pierce has supervision of this class.

In lower special education under the supervision of Iris Pierce the following people have been neither absent nor tardy for this year. Sam Brady, Edgar Bred, and Berman Mass. The following people haven't been absent for this month: Albert Crosby, Leslie Davis, William Davis, Harry Foster, Junior Fowler, Fred Pence and Jack Van Camp.

In upper education instructed by Marie Hamilton these pupils have perfect attendance records: Dorothy Allen, Harriett Barnes, Minnie Merz, Dorothy McClarren, Don Brannon, Lee Cobb, Paul Davis, William Harrison, Stephen Petrun and Howard Rogers.

PRODUCT MAP OF S. A.

Allice Mary Griner

Produce maps are very interesting to make. During the study of South America, each pupil in Miss Park's sixth grade class made one. After each country that we studied we placed its products on our maps.

At school we were each given an outline map of South America. We used our note book photographs to know where each product should be placed. Paints or crayons were used to color the maps. The important cities and names of the countries were also put on. The products were put in capsules. Some of the products were wheat, corn, cocoa, sugar, diamonds, emeralds, fish, wool, cotton, coffee, tobacco, pearls, leather, rubber, nitrate of soda, cinchona, gold, silver, and copper. We mounted these on a colored sheet of drawing paper. They all looked very nice when they were finished.

They help us to know the products of other countries. They are very helpful to us in geography.

Eighth Grade

Modern business test results are as follows: high 100, median 88, low 54.

A class students who have had a perfect attendance record since school opened are: Margie Brown, Mary Helwage, Helen Nelson, Betty Barnes, Harriet Cullums, Mary Curtin, Lee Cork, Loyd Dunlap, Robert Friece, Lawrence Lane, John Robinson, Glenn Russell, James Smith, William Stewart, Jacobs Towers and William Ashbrook.

Those having perfect attendance in the B class are: Mary Katherine Wolf, Harold Baughman, Polly Briggs, Donald Dumm, Robert Davis, Lenord Eblin, Eldon Hill, Lorry Hosler, Emanuel Hundley, Mary Elizabeth Kellstadt, Margaret McCollister, Maxine Niles, Russel Parish and William Robinson.

Pupils neither absent nor tardy in the C class are: Marvin Throckmorton, Violet Smith, Elsie Imier, Ruth Newland, Edward Phebus, Everett Cadwell, and Bernard Epperly.

The 7 A Civics class has started a club called Junior Citizen Education Club. The purpose of the club is to teach better moral training. The club will have some sort of entertainment each Monday. Monday of next week they will present a play called, "Adventures of the Pilgrims."

The officers of this are as follows. Junior Reichelderfer, president. Robert Wilez, vice president and Tom Kirwin, secretary.

Those having perfect attendance for month ending Nov. 22 are: George Ammer, Elsie A. Brehrer, Morris Clark, Tom Conrad, Elizabeth Dowden, Ernestine Fausnaugh, Gaylord Greenlee, Isadore Heskett, Thomas Kirwin, Bernice Liston, Eleanor Sowery, Otis Mader, Margie Merz, Ned Plum, James Reichelderfer, Dorcas Schreiner, Margery Dewey Speakman, David Steinhauser, Mary Stout, Kermit Wilson, Catherine Wooliver, Robert Wyle and Vera Zaenglein.

Corwin

The section, Paragraph Meaning, of the Standard Achievement Reading Test, given Oct. 30th in the 7th resulted as follows:

High score 100, low 44, class median 74 and standard median 69.

The three highest scores were received by James Reichelderfer

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

(By Bob Rooney.)

Hilda Thomas was all worked up the other day. It seemed that Young Melba Pearce had Mader cry. She had to do something for her nerves so she went up the Hill and Rhoda Goff.

She saw Gerty Lawson picking the Leists off the Crows and Buzzards. Gerty then went to Dress-back in the house. Hilda walked closer to Seymour. She watched the Pigmans. He was a very Merriman. There were many Green tomato Ryans on the Long Green-lees.

When she was coming away, she fell over a stump, right into some "Red" straw-Berrys. She became White, but just a-Rose and said, "How Dumm!"

Her "Olive" skin was now dark Brown. "Maybe I can Steele some Plums," she said. Just then she saw Reynolds Greene who Bost her at the "Harold."

He said, "I'm kinda Richey now. Will you be the bride, if I be the Groom?"

She thought, then said to herself, "The Kir-win." She then told him, "You Betz."

She got in. He drew the Rains, blew the Horn and drove away at a rate of 100 kill-a-Watts an hour.

SAY IT WITH SONGS

(By D. Strawser and M. Seymour)

It was Some Sweet Day. Ramona, While Waiting at the End of the Road, was growing tired Little by Little and was ready to go to her Home Sweet Home when up came her Beloved, Joe College, her Vagabond Lover, stepped up to her and said, "Listen, Honey, I just couldn't be here on time because my sister, Louise, is going to Kentucky this afternoon on the Dream Train and I had to make reservations, secure tickets, and whatnot."

Ramona studied a little. "Listen," she said finally, "You were Meant For Me, and you, wanted this date. I will not accept that excuse."

"Yes, but mother told me to, and I ain't Misbehavin'," to her. What ever she says goes, I can't stand to see tears come into My Mother's Eyes." Joe flinched, a little.

"Shame on you, Mother's Boy," came back Ramona's retort. "That's My Weakness Now," he said sorrowfully. "You'll Forgive Me won't you?"

"Yes," she answered, softly, as they walked in the Moonlight toward the fence of the sugar cane field and sat down.

"Won't you sing for me, Joe?" she asked softly, "Where is the Song of Songs for Me? Ah, I have it. It's My Inspiration is You," answered Joe quickly.

While Joe was singing, down the road came Old Man River.

"Heigh Ho Everybody, Heigh Ho," he jovially shouted when he espied the lovers. "Don't love where everybody'll see you. Why not come Down Among the Sugar Cane with me?"

"Yes," answered Joe, stopping his song, "if you'll ride us down your 'Collegiate?'"

"Sorry, old timer, but I'm not going to make this old trust wagon The Love Boat, of Podunk Center." He looked at the pair.

"By the way, the Blue Skies are giving away For the Gray and it looks as if it might Rain so you had better quit singin' and start back to yer house At the End of the Rainbow."

"Ah," piped up Ramona. "Singin' in the Rain is fun."

"It's My Sin," announced Joe. The old farmer adged and said, "Well, I Always Get the Blues When It Rains so I had better be goin'," and rode down the road until he was out of sight.

"He sure likes his farm. Always," Ramona said.

"Yes, but who wouldn't?" the other asked. "Listen, Beloved, When My Dreams Come True, we'll Live Down on a Farm, too, like you've always been Wishin' for."

After a silence, "You Won't Forget Me here tonight, will you Wonderful One?"

"No," he promised, "but you'll be here Sitting by Yourself in the Moonlight won't you?"

100, Otis Mader 100 and Robert Wyle 96.

Those making a record attendance in the Seventh grade A class are as follows:

TARLTON LADIES ARE HOSTESSES

The Ladies' Aid society of the Laurelville M. E. church with the other societies of the immediate community were royally entertained by the ladies of the Tarlton M. E. church Wednesday p. m. Nov. 20th, with a program of music and readings. At the close of the program ice cream cake and coffee was served to 175 or more ladies.

TO MEET ON MONDAY NIGHT

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held Monday evening in the Post Room of the Memorial hall at 7:30. Plans will be completed for the play which is to be given on Dec. 6th. All members are urged to be present.

WINS PRIZE IN ART CONTEST

Robert "Bob" Roundhouse, '28 son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Roundhouse of W. High-st, was recently notified by the Federal School Inc. of Minnesota that he had won second prize, a certificate of merit entitling him to $40.00 if he attends the art school, in an art contest sent out by the institute.

Several weeks ago "Bob" received a drawing from the institute and was asked to make an exact replica for the contest editor. He did this and received a grade of 81 per cent.

During the time when the Red and Black was put out in mimeograph form, "Bob" was the staff artist.

SEE UNIQUE PERFORMANCE

Miss Emma Mader and Miss Laura Mader attended the costume recital Thursday night in Chillicothe by Miss Viola Mader at the Eastern Star temple. Miss Mader is a pupil of Mrs. Ella McKee Erdman.

It was a unique entertainment, charmingly presented in costume and pantomime, and displaying the exceptional talent of Miss Mader.

Miss Jessie Hillard gave Miss Mader excellent support at the piano, and presented several selections, between acts.

Impersonating Gainsborough's Blue Boy, in a suit of blue satin and a hat with flowing plume, Miss Mader opened the program with a group of four Old English songs.

They were "The Nightingales of Lincoln's Inn, arr. by Oliver; 'The Lass With the Delicate Air,' arr. by Taylor; and 'The Ways of the World,' arr. by Taylor.

The second group of Chinese Nursery Rhymes, Miss Mader in costume gave a most clever presentation. The group, arranged by Crist, included "Lady-Bug," "The Mouse," "Baby is Sleeping," "Pat-a-Cake," "Of What Use is a Woman" and "The Old Woman."

In the garb of a mountain maid Miss Mader sang the third group, "It Ain't Gonna Rain," "The Old Maid's Song," "Billy Boy" and "Bury Me Beneath the Willow," folk songs from a collection compiled by Wyman and Brookway.

The last group, and the one that showed Miss Mader's voice to the best advantage, and brought out its lovely tonal quality was opened with "The Merry Widow Waltz," LeHar. Miss Mader thoroughly delighted her audience in her costume of the gay '90 when bustles and the flowing skirts were the style.

The second song in the group was the exquisite "Silver Threads Among the Gold." Danks, and lastly "Parla (Waltz Song). Ardit.

All of the songs were beautifully sung and brought the evening to a pleasant conclusion.

OPERETTA TUESDAY IN LAURELVILLE

An operetta, "The National Flower," a timely subject, will be presented Tuesday night at the Laurelville school house. This musical show in three acts will begin at 8 o'clock.

The first and the second acts are the Court Room; in the third act there are two scenes. The first is on the lawn and the second is the court room.

The story of the operetta has splendid opportunities for juvenile actors. In it candidates for the position of National Flower have been summoned to appear before a judge and jury, there to plead each one his own case. After giving tional Flower, each aspirant remains to listen to the stories of his rivals. Occasionally weeds, stray in, to the horror of the assembled flowers and consternation is great when an onion chances to look in upon the scene. The Jury acting under instruction from the Judge, endeavors to decide in favor of the most useful, as well as the most beautiful flower.

Uncle Sam volunteers some valuable information, after which the flowers express their hearty approval of the one chosen, and the contest is happily and satisfactorily ended.
